Quick Reference Guide to our Products and Services

"Highly Configurable, Fully-featured, Scalable, Robust"

Introduction

Knowledgeone Corporation (K1Corp) has been in the records, document, imaging and workflow business for over 30 years.

Our iconic product RecFind has been completely redesigned and re-developed at least eight times over this period to take advantage of new knowledge and new technologies. This is an ongoing process required to both add new features and to maintain compatibility with the latest technologies and operating systems.

History of Product Development

Our latest version, RecFind 6 version 2.9, includes a full complement of records management, document management, document imaging and workflow functionality.

RecFind 6 is used by an eclectic selection of industries all over the world and you can see a selection of our customers at the following link:
